YAHWEH IS SAYING IT:

It's not a bad thing to want reassurance that you are on the right path. It's not bad that you crave a plan of real freedom from the chains of a facial diplomatic presentation. All the people want you to behave as they would view your voted position in married looks of the governmental standing. They say, "Carry your way as this person under the office placement before you and the one who stood before her." Would they care to know that a title gained by association does not grant a craving to be in that office? You can be married to a nation's leader yet carry no craving to walk in step with their way.

Where is your true craving? A craving will be a plan free from the spider's web. You crave the way to be freed from facial diplomatic actions, forcing hideaways.

What can Yahweh say to tell you that you still can gain spiritual asylum with a convincing tone? Why hide your window into your full way by stripping away a view of your beautiful eyes? The pain of looking at the media; what if they see you and say you want to be like him? What if there isn't a unified way to have a true, convincing way with those under the covering of the view of the lady of the White House? Who will say, "Madam, do you need a safe place, a haven free of association? I will give you the way to hope in what could be a good way of living."

Money does not save your soul. Money does not bring honest places of association. The secret of your facial diplomacy chain is coming to the surface.

Look at Yahweh. Take a look at how I look at your way. There is a way to see God with a "clean hands and pure heart" plan. Take your covering off of your face. Let Yahweh take a real look. I can offer true peace.
